Application Name: HotGamesWithFriends

Application Description:

Our product will provide value to users by centralizing important and interesting data about games, specific communities, and users' personalized communities.

HotGamesWithFriends will be a web app that consolidates all the information users need about their favorite games and helps them connect with other users in the community. We will have two primary focuses, users and overall games.

With "users" we will granulate our scope to specific users and their personal games. Users will be able to view specific information about themselves in their favorite games AND information about that community. They will also be able to connect with top players in each of their favorite games.

Our "overall games" focus will be expanding our scope to the overall gaming community, providing users with helpful information about a wide list of games. Users will be able to view a list of the most popular games (filtered by all games OR by genre), while also being able to filter using a variety of different sub variables. Some of the filter variables may include, most copies sold, most hours played, rating, current players online, and more. In addition, users will also be able to click on specific games to view that specific community's data.

Games

Users will be able to view helpful information about the overall gaming community

- Most popular games overall
 - Possible filters: By hours, users online, copies sold, countries
- Most popular games by genre & associated statistics
 - Nice to have: Show users similar games

Users

Users will be able to view helpful information about the games that they play such as:

- Statistics about themselves sorted by game
 - Hours played, achievements
- Top players within that game
- Allow users to connect with players by linking steam profiles (Where they can add each other)

Vision Statement: To further connect gamers with their favorite communities and provide awesome statistics.

Communication Plan:

We have shared all of our contact information, but will primarily be using discord to communicate. To make sure we covered all our bases, we were sure to share all of our phone numbers in case of emergencies.
